It is even suggested that some of the live town mothers may take an interest in the problem, through their new powers of citizenship. its treasury.

The awakening has come from certain happenings which raise the ques-tion as to whether the people of the town are going to sit back and see the region grow up to brush with rocks pro-truding where the highways once were. Even the state highways have been al-lowed to deteriorate and it was felt that the state of the state to allow that. But in this connection it is said that it is necessary to await action by the next legislaure before joint action can be taken by state and town to keep in condition, also to complete the construction of the two theroughtares already projected through the town by state plans.
